Adventurers league season 9 character sheet

Fans are eagerly awaiting Westworld's return for what it looks like forever. We theorized Dolores, Maeve, the Man in Black and the other worlds. And we wondered what complex layered mysteries the HBO series will unveil later. Now that season 2 is coming soon, we're starting to take our first look at the new players. There are potential allies for the hosts, Delos employees, park visitors, and even a couple of intriguing new players we don't know much about. Here's everything we know about Westworld's new characters, including a mysterious duo from a completely different theme park (pages 7 and 8).

1. Maling Betty Gabriel | Frazer Harrison/Getty Images Predictably, the Westworld team keeps a lot of season 2 details under control. But we know that we will meet Maling, who will be tasked with cleaning up the mess Dolores and his fellow guests make during their revolution. Betty Gabriel, who wowed critics with her performances stealing the scene in Get Out and Good Girls Revolt, will play Maling. Next: Will this newcomer be a friend or an enemy to westworld hosts? 2. Nicholas Here's what we know about season 2 newcomer Nicholas: He's a charming, resourceful man who's in uncharted territory. And he will be played by Neil Jackson, of Sleepy Hollow and Quantum of Solace. What we don't know is whether he's going to be human or a guest, friend or foe. But the fact that they are keeping the details of his character under the wrappers is certainly intriguing. Next: This military could end Dolores' rebellion in Westworld Season 2. 3. Major Craddock Jonathan Tucker | Tommaso Boddi/Getty Images for New York Magazine It seems that Westworld management may have to call itself with big guns. Major Craddock, a commanding officer, will make his season 2 debut. Details of his role, and how the army fits into Westworld's largest plot, are unclear. But we know that veteran actor Jonathan Tucker (American Gods, Kingdom) will bring Major Craddock to life. Next: Delos will dare technical support from this Westworld Season 2 beginner. 4. Antoine Costa What's going on behind the scenes was a big focus in the first season of Westworld. We can expect to see more of Delos' efforts to keep the hosts contained when we resume in Season 2. A new player will be Antoine Costa. Fares Fares (Zero Dark Thirty, Rogue One) will be the mysterious tech expert, who will no doubt be part of efforts to recheck the park. Next: We'll have another perspective on Westworld when we meet this host in Season 2. 5. Grace Katja Herbers | Jamie McCarthy/Getty Images If you've seen westworld Season 2 trailers, you know visitors to the are in a difficult time. Dolores' rebellion seems to have evolved into a massacre in all respects. And at least one new character could be caught in the crossfire. Katja Herbers (The Americans, The Leftovers) will be Grace, a longtime westworld visitor and enthusiast. Westworld: Herbers has been named regular as standard. It's safe to assume grace will stay around for a while. It could offer fans a way to experience the horror of visitors as they try to escape the wrath of the hosts. Next: Will this new Season 2 character help or hinder Delos' recovery efforts? 6. Karl Strand Gustaf Skarsgård | Frazer Harrison/Getty Images Between Alexander's award-winning role in Big Little Lies and Bill's star turn as IT's Pennywise, the Skarsgård family has had a good run in Hollywood lately. And it's about to get even better, as brother Gustaf Skarsgård will co-star in Westworld Season 2. Skarsgård, who also appeared in Vikings, will play Karl Strand. The character is described as white-collared, but has no problem getting his hands dirty. This could mean he's a Delos employee sent for damage control. Or she could be yet another Westworld patron. Next: The arrival of this new character could also introduce a whole new world to Westworld fans. 7. Mushashi Hiroyuki Sanada | Dia Dipasupil/Getty Images The final episode of westworld's first season gave fans a glimpse of deceased samurai hosts in the Programming Division. And it looks like we'll see more of that themed world in the next few episodes. In season 2 we will meet Mushashi, played by Hiroyuki Sanada (Lost, The Wolverine). We haven't had many chances to see Sanada in action yet. But Funko Pop revealed a mushashi figure during Comic Con in 2017. We don't know much else about him, other than the fact that he will be a recurring character and clearly comes from Shogun World. Only time will tell if he shares Dolores' thirst for justice. Next: Fans were intrigued by this mysterious new character in the Trailer for Season 2 of Westworld. 8. Akane Rinko Kikuchi at Westworld | HBO Like Mushashi, Akane is probably a part of Shogun World. We learned almost nothing else about her, but we caught a glimpse of her in full geisha attire in the Trailer for Westworld Season 2. Akane will be played by Rinko Kikuchi, who is best known for her stunning Oscar-nominated performance in Babel. And if his filmography is an indication, he is able to give another powerhouse performance in the second season of Westworld. Next: We don't know the name of this new character yet, but we can't wait to learn more. 9. Zahn McClarnon Zahn McClarnon's unnamed character in Westworld | HBO The new Westworld character Zahn McClarnon plays is so mysterious that we don't know his name yet. But we know, thanks to the latest trailer for Season 2, that he seems to be a Native American leader. Some fans think McClarnon's character couldn't be the leader of the same Ghost Nation. Whoever he is, Westworld is lucky to have the actor on board - his prestigious career lasts three decades and includes roles in The Shield, Longmire and Fargo. Eleven (Millie Bobby Brown) had closed the gate and reunited with Mike (Finn Wolfhard) in time to share a cute moment at the Snow Ball. Hopper (David Harbour) got a birth certificate for Eleven, and their father-daughter relationship began to feel blissfully normal. Lucas (Caleb McLaughlin) shared a sweet moment with newcomer Max (Sadie Sink), Steve (Joe Keery) grew up in his father's vibes, and Nancy (Natalia Dyer) gave Dustin (Gaten Matarazzo) a pep talk. Will (Noah Schnapp) was finally freed from the complaints of a shadow monster, much to the relief of Joyce (Winona Ryder) who was already mourning the loss of her boyfriend, Bob (Sean Astin). But during the Snowball, another shadow monster quietly hid in the sky, suggesting that the Upside-Down wasn't done causing problems for our faves and that Season 3 of Stranger Things would surely reverse all this happiness once again. Although we hate to see it on their behalf, the presence of the shadow monster has left a lot of ground to cover in the third season, which finally arrives on July 4.
